

Production Control Manager, Hertfordshire, £55K - £70K

An innovative manufacturer, developing bespoke products globally across various Industries including aerospace, marine and transportation, is looking for a 'hands-on' Production Control Manager with five years plus exposure in production planning, coordination and control of manufacturing processes. This is a cradle to grave manufacturing and assembly environment where you will be responsible for the delivery of goods and services produced efficiently to order, cost, quantity, and on time.

Reporting to the Managing Director, you will demonstrate proven strategic responsibility to manage all processes involved in purchase, scheduling and shipping of all goods internationally. Meeting the departments and business vision, and objectives, you will drive process improvements, with a focus on customer delivery, measuring performance whilst effectively supporting a dedicated team.

It is essential you demonstrate excellent interpersonal people management skills, with proven production scheduling, supplier management capabilities and a good sense of humour. You will have extensive ERP experience to drive improvements with exposure working within in a high added value, electro-mechanical assembly manufacturing environment. Engineering degree educated, apprentice trained engineer or similar calibre with a minimum of five year's exposure within and similar role and industry environment.

Key responsibilities include:

- Liaise with the sales team to tailor manufacturing output and forecasting stock levels
- Ensure the smooth & timely flow of product from purchased parts, through manufacturing and out to our customers
- Manage and develop the team
- Provide support and backup to team members as required
- Monitor and review stock to ensure optimal levels
- Take the lead in regular production review meetings
- Develop the production planning system, including MRP, to reduce lead times and improve on-time delivery
- Report monthly on the department KPIs to ensure they meet company vision and objectives
- Continuously review the departments processes to ensure ISO9001 standards are met with continuous improvement initiative
- Strategic management reviews of vision and objectives to help shape future growth

With extensive ERP system exposure, you will champion improvements and develop people where necessary, working to quality standards, providing performance reviews and vision that will shape future growth.

This company offers exceptional benefits package and working environment where investment in people is key to their success.